TO MR. BOGGIE.

IT is not difficult to conceive MR. BOGGIE your reasons for the APPEALS you continue to make to the PUBLIC, but, it is is a matter of astonishment, that a man, of your judgement, should venture to approach a tribunal, so very aweful to others, with statements replete with errors, and assertions void of truth.

For in the course of your researches after knowledge, you seem to have discovered, that the public is ever ready to believe the TALE of DISTRESS, and commiserate the misfortunes of those who pretend to have suffered under the hand of oppression; and you have taken an unfair advantage of that generous credulity, and grossly abused that amiable sympathy, without reflecting that the PUBLIC is equally just, as it is liberal, and that it can punish, in the same degree as it can protect; that untruths are liable to detection, and shame and disgrace the certain consequences.

In our LAST CORRESPONDENCE, you gave up the contest, tacitly acknowledging that you could not, in prudence answer the questions I proposed, and that it was impossible to refute the charges I had brought forward; and I flattered myself in the hopes that you were convinced of the impropriety of your conduct although you had not candor to acknowledge it, but in this you deceived me, in the same manner that you deceived others—You have renewed your unjust and malevolent attacks on men, who have acted merely in defence of their rights, and the preservation of their fortunes, both which you had dared to violate; supporting the atrocious measure by the most iniquitous means, obstinately refusing to hear the dictates of reason, and justice, and totally regardless of the injury you were doing to the Estate and Creditors of MR. HALL: intent only on gratifying your pique and resentment, and indifferent to every consideration that interfered with your Commission of five per Cent; an OBJECT! that has induced you to make so many exertions to retain the possession of the Estate. Had it not been for the benefits you expected to derive from the commission that is allowed on the estates of deceased persons, and which, in the present instance, agreeable to your own calculations, would have amounted to the sum of 15,000 Pagodas; any person might have taken upon himself the management of the estate without the fear of interruption from you, and the public would never have heard the plantive notes of MR. BOGGIE, in favor of the "helpless widow and three helpless children"! HELPLESS, indeed, they would have been, had they been reduced to a state of dependance upon your bounty; and such must have been their deplorable situation, if the affairs of their deceased relative had continued in your hands; as it lies in my power to demonstrate, that instead of a surplus of 28,000 Pags. after the payment of Mr. Hall's debts, as you have attempted to prove in your letter inserted in the Hircarrah of the 28th ultimo, the estate is actually insolvent. And, to that end, I shall, for the sake of argument, take your own calcule, as my guide. You have said, that after deducting 47,000 Pags. from the gross amount of the proceeds of the estate, and, I believe, you had good reason for making that deduction, there would remain the sum of 357,255 Pags. from this sum must be deducted, as commission, at 5 per cent, the sum of 15,365 Pags. which leaves the sum of 341,890 Pags,—there is a deduction to be made for the auctioneer of five per Cent, and, upon the supposition, that the sales by auction would amount to 150,000 Pags. which I am led to believe is considerably within the fact, the sum would be 7,500 Pags. and taken from 341,890 leaves, the sum of 334,390.

Again, MR. BOGGIE, you have calculated the debts due by the estate upon Bond only, and, there are simple-contract-claims amounting, as I am informed, and I believe, I may depend upon my authority, to at least 12,000 Pagodas, which makes the Estate debtor for six thousand Pagodas and upwards, more than it is able to pay; but, MR. BOGGIE, you well know, that your calcule is beyond, what according to the real amount of the Estate, you were warranted in stating it, and this I could easily point out. I could shew, among other things, that you have carried to the credit of the Estate large sums, which the parties who are debited with them will certainly resist, and who have declared, that the Estate is considerably indebted to them; but I conceive I have gone far enough to destroy your visionary surplus, and which appears to have been a piece of studied and regularly digested artifice on your part, not only to impose upon the public and raise an unfounded prejudice against those, whom you call your adversaries, but to create a misunderstanding between the Administrators and the Widow of the late Mr. Hall, for the purpose of carrying into effect a dark design, which you have had sometime in contemplation, and, from the success of which, you drew conclusions favourable to your dernier resort: in plain English, MR. BOGGIE, you were sanguine in your hopes of deceiving Mrs. Hall, by false appearances, and after having worked upon her mind, with the idea of the loss she would sustain by the Administration of her husband's affairs continuing in its present state, and the advantages that would accrue to her in the event of success in your EXTRAORDINARY APPEAL to HIS MAJESTY in COUNCIL. You might naturally enough expect, that she would do, as others had done, and give you some voucher, marking her approbation of the steps you have taken, and reprobating the measures pursued by your Opponents.—I know persons have spoken to Mrs. Hall on these points, and I believe, they were requested by you to do so; how far they have succeeded I know not, and I trust, Mrs. Hall possesses too much good sense to be made the dupe of your shallow pretences, particularly when she now learns, if she is not already acquainted with the circumstance, that the Estate of her deceased husband never could have done more than answer the demands of Specialty-Creditors; and having thus shewn what her condition must have been, had YOU continued the Arbiter of her fate, give me leave to explain it in the REVERSE.

"Look, here, upon this Picture—and on THIS!"

The Administrators have come to the benevolent determination of giving up to her and her Children, the amount of all their commission, whatever it may be, and in doing this, in making a sacrifice of their labours and emoluments, to establish a fund for the future support of a distressed family, they enjoy that pleasing satisfaction, which you must ever remain a stranger to Will you be so good to make a MEMORANDUM of this act of generosity. And, if you please, you may add it to the list your documents, with which you are about to depart for Europe—this last intended measure of yours, leads me to the natural conclusion, that after you have done all the mischief possible in this Country, you are going to try, a pious purpose! what evils you can produce in another.

"Relictâ quam benè Parmula!"

You will possibly complain at the severity of my Language; I am sorry that you have obliged me to adopt it, and still more so, that it is the language of Truth! The accusations, I have brought against you, are indeed very serious, and of course you will refute them, if you can: but I have some doubts whether you will even condescend to notice them. At another period you had declared, that you were in the possession of Proof sufficient to justify your conduct, and fully substantiate the assertions you had made, in regard to the proceedings of the Gentlemen who opposed you in your office of pretended Executor; and you also declared, that you were ready to produce those proofs; but, when put to the test, what was the result?—You descended to scurrility and abuse, to subterfuge and evasion; expedients not pardonable in any Man: how then must they appear, attached to the mild and benign Mr. Boggie? whose only ambition is to obtain Justice for the injuries he has suffered, and who only hopes for redress as he may appear to deserve it. !!!

When expedients failed you, and you knew that you could not adduce one solid argument in your favor, you chose to remain in sullen silence, neither pleading guilty of the inconsistency which rose in Judgment against you, nor attempting to defend that integrity which had so long been your boasted theme.

With these truths, deeply impressed upon my conviction, added to a variety of others of a similar nature, that have come to my knowledge within the last three months, I cannot persuade myself that you will be more explanatory in future, than you have been upon former occasions; however, it is necessary to expose the fallacy of those representations you have lately introduced, or they might be received as incontrovertible facts, and this is the principal consideration that has induced me to address you once more, and I sincerely hope it may be for the last time.

You say, that if the statement of the situation of Mr. Hall's affairs be just, you cannot fail of convincing the great tribunal, to which you have appealed, and that the probable consequences must be, that those, who were your prosecutors, had no right to be so, and that they ought to bear every damage, expence and deficiency, the estate will have sustained; but upon what principle you can draw such consequences, I believe, it is impossible for any one to find out, and not in your own power to explain; for although your premises should be just, that is, although Mr. Hall's estate should have been solvent in July last, does it follow, of course, that the creditors were bound to suffer you to hold an uncontrouled management, where you had no manner of right to interfere? You gave them sufficient cause to be alarmed for the safety of their property, whilst you had that management, and would you then insinuate that they were blameable in pursuing a measure by which they might secure it?

You held in your hands, for a considerable length of time, 80,000 Pagodas of that property, refusing to make any dividend, notwithstanding they frequently importuned you to do so, or to give them the smallest satisfaction, treating their requisitions with the utmost contempt, and themselves with all the insult, that ignorance, puffed up in vanity, could suggest: it was you, then, who drove them to the necessity of becoming your prosecutors, and it was in the course of the legal measures they pursued, that they discovered your pretended Will to be a fabrication, and yourself a lawless Executor.

But I think MR. BOGGIE, that I have already proved that the estate never was solvent; your propositions therefore, must fall to the ground, and your consequences must tumble with them. You, no doubt, mourn in secret over the dreadful ruin, and I pity the sufferings that your wounded pride must naturally experience.

You pretend to shew that ninety four Creditors were for withdrawing all proceedings that had been commenced against you, and that only thirty nine opposed it.—You have concealed the names of your Friends, and have given your adversaries in detail: but, even, in this trifling particular, you have been incorrect: you have omitted the names of Defries, a CREDITOR to the amount of twenty two thousand Pagodas, Mustrumjee, Michell, and some others; but Mr. Boggie, possessed, as you are, of a stock of law-learning, I presume you are not to learn from me, that every creditor has a right to guard his own individual property, and that the opposition of one man would, in your case, have been as competent in opposing your illegal powers, as one hundred.

But pray, SIR, how did you procure so many friends? I will tell you—many of them by promises to pay off the amount of their bonds, promises, that, in some instances, you never did and probably never intended to perform. The bonds of some, indeed, you did discharge, and it was not to be imagined, that they, who had been thus satisfied, would be anxious that proceedings should go on against you when they were no longer interested in the event. Those, who could obtain payment from you, acted very properly in receiving it, and in doing so they benefited both themselves, and the creditors at large: they rescued out of your hands a large sum of money, which from strongly marked circumstances, there is every reason to suppose would have remained there to this day; if you had not believed that the circulation would ensure the success of your well conceived plan, for which I give you full credit, although it failed in the execution.

You would insinuate, that the Creditors, who lived at a distance from Madras, did not give any special powers to their Agents to investigate the paper set up by you, as the Will of Mr. Hall; but I apprehend, that upon enquiry it will be found, that you have been mistaken in this matter also, and I positively deny your assertion, that a thing, which you call a Will, was set aside without a reason assigned—you were cited to bring it into Court: you did so: allegations were then filed, stating that it was a mere fiction; to these you filed an answer, and the public are in possession of the manner in which you behaved upon your oath—issue then joined, and witnesses were examined on both sides—You surely cannot dispute these facts, and if you cannot, what will become of your assertion?

You say, a Probate was granted in solemn form—what! have you no particle of sensibility left? if you had, you would blush at the bare recollection of a transaction, that was both profligate and disgraceful—the witness produced by you to depose, in that solemn form, which you allude to—swore positively, that he saw Mr. Hall set and subscribe his name to the pretended Will of which the Probate was granted, and afterwards, when examined as a witness in the cause, he as positively swore the contrary; and do you think, that the law of nations, to which you have reference, will sanction such a violation of a religious and social duty?—The Law of the Land may, perhaps, ultimately decide upon the question, and till then, I leave you to digest it as you may.

I cannot take upon myself to say, whether, at the last meeting of the Creditors, they did or did not resolve, that you should be compelled to give up the papers belonging to the Estate of Mr. Hall; but, this I know, that if you are an honest man, you will think your-ſelf bound to give them up without compulſion. I do not know what you mean by a ſecond impriſonment; as I aver, with all your aſſertions before me to the contrary, that you never have been impriſoned at the ſuit of the Creditors or the Adminiſtrators, and your quotation from Blackſtone, as you have applied it, is equally unintelligible. If two or three men ſhut up a ſingle man in a houſe, and in that ſituation force him to ſign a Bond, and this I take to be what Blackſtone had in view, the confinement is unlawful, and the deed is conſequently illegal—now, pray MR. BOGGIE, what has this to do with a commitment under the decree of a Court to enforce juſtice! to compel a man to deliver up papers, which he detains illegally, to thoſe who are legally authoriſed to receive them. But you endeavour to convince the World, that you can occaſionally treat the laws of your country with as much diſreſpect, as you have already treated the rights of individuals, which thoſe laws protect; even in priſon you ſay, you will continue to hold thoſe Papers. This may be very well in the theory, but, I am inclined to think, that even you, obſtinate and determined as you are in doing wrong, would find it rather irkſome in the practice.

You have made a variety of quotations from Blackſtone, and they are all equally inapplicable, and, if you ſhould require it, I am ready to go into proofs—apropos of Blackſtone, as you are ſo fond of the Author, were you as proportionably ready to pay for his Works? You ſtart at the queſtion, and well you may, you purchaſed them from Meſſrs. Wright and Hurſt, and when they ſent in their bill for payment you deſired them, if I am rightly informed, to eraſe your name and debit the Eſtate of Mr. Hall for them. I mention this merely to ſhew the regard you have for the Eſtate, and the Creditors of Mr. Hall; and that even your legal knowledge is to be acquired at their expenſe. I confeſs this is an inſignificant conſideration when compared with others.

At the time the pretended Will was ſet aſide you had in your poſſeſſion a balance of between eleven and twelve thouſand Pagodas, and, if my intelligence be right, the greateſt part of it, that is about Eight Thouſand Pagodas, has been ſwallowed up by your law charges, although your conteſt with the Creditors could not have exceeded the Sum of ſix-Hundred Pagodas, will you be ſo obliging as to account for the difference?—Hence, MR. BOGGIE, it muſt evidently appear that it is YOU, who have injured the Eſtate of Mr. Hall, and not the Creditors—THEY had an intereſt in making it productive, becauſe their own fortunes were involved in it, and pray what Intereſt had YOU? No other than that of making your own fortune out of it, without even having had the leaſt claim upon it.—This is the moſt delicate conſtruction I can make, and I dare ſay you feel yourſelf indebted to the lenity of—

CORRESPONDENCE.

" ANOTHER BOND CREDITOR " is received—he will ſee the Neceſſity of delaying the Publication by the length of the OTHER BOND CREDITOR, whoſe Subject nearly reſembles his own.

INTERESTING NARATIVE of the LOSS OF THE WINTERTON, from its length, we are afraid, that we cannot inſert in the COURIER, we ſhall be happy, however, to publiſh it, if it meet our Correſpondents idea, in the form of a PAMPHLET.

THE COURIER.

MADRAS,

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY. 7, 1794.

THE FORT LEWIS, Capt. Lindſay, belonging to Mr. Urilla, arrived on the 5th inſt. from Manilla; which place ſhe left on the 10th of January; ſhe put in at Malacca on the 19th and ſailed from thence on the 21ſt ultimo.

The Surat Caſtle and Phœnix were at Malacca at the time the Fort Lewis touched there—and had undergone ſome repairs; and were ready to proceed, on their deſtination to Bombay,

Capt. Lindſay did not fall in with a ſail during the whole voyage homeward,

It was currently reported at Malacca, that the Dumourier, Privateer, had ſailed to the Streights of Banca, with intention to cruize off the Streights.

By the FORT LEWIS we receive the following heads of intelligence; certainly important in their nature.

The five Engliſh Indiamen, under the command of COMMODORE THOMPSON, arrived at Manilla from England, direct, on the 3d of Nov. laſt, and ſailed for China, on the 5th of the enſuing month.

The GOVERNOR of MANILLA treated the Engliſh flag with the utmoſt poſſible reſpect, and entertained the Officers of the Indiamen with the moſt polite attention and hoſpitality, during their ſtay.—Commodore Thompſon, previous to his departure gave an elegant farewell entertainment to the governor and gentlemen of the Settlement on board his Ship.

A ſhip belonging to the Philippine Company, with a valuable cargo of Piece Goods and Indigo, ſailed with the Indiamen to China, and was to proceed under their convoy to Europe.

The firſt intelligence of hoſtitities having been commenced between Spain and France was conveyed to Manilla by the Fort Lewis; and, ſhortly after her arrival, official accounts were received there, of that event having taken place, by a ſhip diſpatched for that particular purpoſe from Spain.

The new Governor is much eſteemed and reſpected. The great encouragement and attention which he has given to commercial and to local intereſt has particularly endeared him to the Settlement.

The Port of Manilla is opened for veſſels of all nations and deſcriptions for an unlimited time.—This is not the age of prejudice.—The Port duties on imports and exports are for the moſt part aboliſhed.

The MARKET was not briſk—owing chiefly to the circumſtance of the Acapulco ſhip being ſo much damaged, ſoon after her leaving Manilla, that ſhe was obliged to put back.

By the lateſt advices from South-America, we learn, that goods from Manilla to that market were in very extraordinary demand.

The ſhip Aurora, under Tuſcan Colours, ſailed for Europe on the 5th of January with a cargo of ſugar.

The ſhip, belonging to Mr. Tate, and two Americans, freighted with Rice, were ready to ſail for Bombay.

The Walajah, and the Ceres, were the next ſhips for deſpatch to this Port, and were both expected to ſail in a ſhort time after the Fort Lewis.

Three large ſhips, under Engliſh Colours, ſuppoſed to be the three Indiamen which ſailed from this place in September laſt, from China, were ſeen off Cape Bolliam.

We are informed and from very reſpectable authority, that whatever may be the immediate purpoſe of Admiral Cornwallis's preſent Cruize, that he certainly returns from it, to the Port of Bombay and that he has not any intention of quitting this Country until the arrival of the expected Packet, from Europe—when, ſhould no Naval reinforcement be announced we are informed that he certainly means to ſail, direct for England.

COLONEL FLOYD, proceeded from Pondicherry, to his command of the Southern Army, and the Garriſon of Trichinopoly on the 26th ultimo.

We have great pleaſure in announcing the return of COLONEL NESBITT to the cantonment of Poonamalee, from his tour through the ceded diſtricts—and which we have learned from our different correſpondents, he examined with his uſual judgement and attention—With pain we expreſs the ſentiments of regret felt by his Majeſty's 52d regiment at the intended departure of the Colonel for Europe, on one of the ſhips, now in the Road.

ORATORIO.

It is with pleaſure we announce to our readers, that it is intended to repeat the performance of SACRED MUSIC, for the ſame humane purpoſe as on the former occaſion: this will be very acceptable to the Settlement at large, but more particularly to thoſe, who were deprived of the ſatisfaction of being preſent on the firſt day.

SACRED MUSIC has always been held in the higheſt eſtimation, and the Oratorios in England never fail to aſſemble a large and brilliant audience, and we may venture to ſay, that no Oratorio performed in the Mother-country could produce more delightful ſounds than thoſe we experienced on the 2 th ultimo.—If it were poſſible to raiſe the ſoul to a higher degree than it felt itſelf elevated to by the divine ſtrains, that were poured forth, it was the conſideration that they were employed in promoting the cauſe of benevolence, and to relieve the poor Orphan.

The report that the French had captured two ſmall places on the Eaſt Coaſt, ſeems to be without any kind of foundation.—The object of Privateers is plunder at ſea, it is not their Province, nor are they calculated to make a deſcent on any place—and it is to be preſumed that circumſtanced as affairs have been for ſome time paſt, people are upon their guard, and that no conſiderable property would be riſqued in a place not defencible.—The lateſt accounts from the Eaſt-ward, are totally ſilent on the ſubject.

THE HONORABLE COURT OF DIRECTORS, ever attentive to the intereſts of Individuals, have appointed three of their Servants in the India Houſe; Meſſrs Patterſon, Hyde, and Hedges, to act as Agents reſpecting the Clearance of Baggage &c. from this Country, and entered at the India Houſe. Every complaint is to be rigidly inveſtigated, and no other perſons except the abovenamed Gentlemen, to be permitted to act as Agents under their Authority.

The Barwell, and London, ſailed from Bombay for England, on the 16th Ultimo.

The Ganjava, Jameſon, and Windſor, Hall, arrived at Bombay on the 8th, and the William Anna Roſe, Collins, from Bengal, on the 10th ultimo.

The Bombay frigate, which was to ſail from Bombay about the 15th of laſt month; has a detachment of fifty Europeans, commanded by a Lieutenant, ſerving on board her, as Marines.

MILITARY INTELLIGENCE.

Fort St George, 29th January, 1794.

G. O.

Mr. Charles O'Neile, Aſſiſtant Surgeon, appointed to do duty with the 31ſt Battalion of Native Infantry.

Meſſrs. John Field, Mac Lean, and William Colhoun, having arrived with Indentures from the Honourable Court of Directors, are admitted Aſſiſtant Surgeons on this Eſtabliſhment, Mr. Mac Lean, to rank next above Mr. David Mudie.

The ſick of his Majeſty's Regiment's left at Poonamallie, to be removed to the Preſidency General Hoſpital.

The intelligence, ſaid to have been received via Buſſorah, which diſpoſes of certain high ſtations in this country, only wants —confirmation.—This intelligence originated with the INDIAN WORLD, which recieves a Packet of Wonders! at leaſt once a Week; obligingly diſpatched from Europe for the eſpecial purpoſe of —— filling a vacant Column.—The Partition of France! ſerved the occaſion of the laſt Paper.

HON. W. WYNDHAM.

We have traced with ſome degree of ſurpriſe in the Hircarrah of the 4th, an extract from a Bengal, paper and ſaid to have been recently received via Buſſorah, intimating a report that Mr. Wyndham was talked of as the ſucceſſor to the chair of this Preſidency. The preſent ſeaſon has been very prolific in intelligence extraordinary, and the extract alluded to, certainly ſwells the articles generally claſſed under that head. The Editor himſelf ſeems to have been aſhamed of this ſpurious offspring of inconſiſtency and improbability, which he has thus adopted, and has prudently enough, ſqueezed it into a dark corner of his paper, where indeed it may now and then be read—— BY ACCIDENT.

Mr. WYNDHAM is one of the managers of the proſecution againſt that great, good man, whoſe exalted virtues are in this country deeply felt, and gratefully acknowledged; and he is in a manner pledged to the public to continue in that office until the termination of that ſingularly ſevere meaſure.

Mr. WYNDHAM is alſo the greateſt landholder, Mr. COKE excepted, in the county of Norfolk, and it is fair to ſuppoſe that his abſence from England might be detrimental to his affairs, and he cannot have any object of ambition in view, as it is a well known fact, that he has been offered a Peerage and refuſed it.

Independant of theſe conſiderations the brilliant abilities which Mr. Wyndham poſſeſſes, renders his reſidence in England in the preſent ſituation of affairs abſolutely neceſſary; if therefore his boſom ſhould glow with the patriotic deſire of ſerving his country, and ſurely no boſom ever ſwelled with more fervent zeal, where can he ſerve her ſo eſſentially as in her Senate—there his claſic arguments have often prevailed, and there his wiſdom is acknowledged and revered.

THE ARTS—

To get money, are very various.

It is whiſpered, that a Subſcription is about to be ſolicited; for procuring the Portraits, as companions for thoſe already expoſed in the Exchange! of Lord Clive, General Lawrence, and Colonel Ford; very excellent Likeneſſes of whom may be had, we are told, from the Ladies Magazine of 1759 and 1760.

" Cum multis aliis quæ nunc perſcribere longum eſt."

TONTINE.

We are happy to hear that the hint conveyed in our laſt paper, under the ſignature of N. S.—has produced the effect deſired—and that, in conſequence, a TONTINE is about to be eſtabliſhed on a very liberal and reſpectable plan; and to which permanency and ſtability is inſured by the ſupport of ſeveral gentlemen of great commercial worth, and ſituation in the Settlement.—We learn that the ſcheme is in ſuch forwardneſs, that it will in a few days be ſubmitted to the public through the Madras Prints.

REMARKABLE OCCURRENCES.

The following remarkable occurrences have all taken place, during the reign of the Ci-devant Louis, on the ſame day of the month. On the 21ſt of April, 1770, the wedding ring which cemented the union between Louis and Maria Antoinette, was diſpatched from Paris to Vienna. On the 21ſt of June, of the ſame year, the Fete of the Royal marriage was celebrated throughout France. On the 21ſt of January, 1782, a Fete was celebrated on occaſion of the birth of the Dauphin. On the 21ſt of June, 1791, Louis fled to Varennes. On the 21ſt of September, 1792, royalty was aboliſhed in France: and on the 21ſt of January, 1793, Louis the XVI was brought to the block.

A FRENCH REFUGEE PRIEST being required, in conſequence of the Alien Bill, to ſtate his name, &c.—under the article of occupation, wrote as follows:—" I have no " other OCCUPATION than praying to God " for the ſoul of my KING—thanking Hea- " ven for the charity and benevolence I have " experienced in this country, and imploring a " continuance of every bleſſing that ſuch a " country deſerves."

Admiral Cornwallis, in His Majeſty's Ship the Minerva ſailed from Bombay on the 12th Ultimo.

SUPREME COURT.

The 21ſt ult. a cauſe of much novelty in this country was decided in the Supreme Court. It was an action brought to recover a ſum of money won at Whiſt, from the Defendant, by Gibbons deceaſed, to whoſe eſtate, the plantiffs in this action had obtained adminiſtration

The eſtate of Gibbons having proved inſolvent, the adminiſtrators were inclined to recover whatever was due for the benefit of the creditors. The defendants counſel ſet up two pleas, Non aſſumpſit; and Non aſſumpſit in fra ſex annos, on both which pleas they failed. But a queſtion in point of law aroſe, namely, whether the debt, being a gambling one, could be recovered, and whether the ſtatute of 16th Chas. II. and the 9th Anne. did not extend to this Country? After hearing the arguments of Sir John Richardſon, of the Advocate General, and Mr. Carrington, on the part of the defendant, to eſtabliſh that either or both of theſe ſtatutes did extend to India; and Mr. Strettell on behalf of the plantiffs, to overturn the objection attempted to be ſet up by the defendants counſel, the Court gave judgment for the plaintiffs.

The ſtatutes, on which the defence in the above cauſe was attempted to be ſet up, declare that a perſon winning of another at play the ſum of one hundred pounds or upwards at one ſitting, has no right to an action at law to recover from the loſer, the whole or any part of the amount ſo loſt. On that ground therefore the counſel for the defendant contended for a nonſuit. But by the judgment of the Court, in favor of the plantiff; it is now decided, that neither of theſe acts do extend to this country;—conſequently all fair gambling debts are in India recoverable by law.
